Beyond the Polar Bears - Second Climate Change Illustration Workshop

Thursday, February 16, 2017

2 West 13th Street, Room L1104

3:00pm – 3:50pm

Create images for a global climate movement. Join us, as Guy Billout shares his work and processes in storytelling for the second micro-workshop for our 350.org climate change project, Beyond the Polar Bear!

Guy Billout is an internationally renowned artist and illustrator whose aesthetic style is clean and spare, usually incorporating wonderful ironic elements. His work has been featured in Atlantic Monthly and he has been a consistent contributor to The New Yorker. In addition, his client list history includes: The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, The Washington Post, Oprah, Travel & Leisure, Business Week, Fortune, Time. His awards include: Hamilton King and The New York Times ten best illustrated children's books.

Faculty coordinator Wendy Popp will facilitate the session's discussion and brainstorming on sequential narratives and editorial imagery.

Please contact poppw@newschool.edu for additional information. Bring your sketchbook and/or laptop! (Materials and snacks provided!) Free and open to all students and faculty
