

Tishman Environment
and Design Center

TISHMAN CENTER · SEPTEMBER 13, 2018

New School Students and Faculty Rise For Climate Jobs and Justice

On Thursday, September 6, New Yorkers gathered to add their voices to national and global call for immediate, bold, effective approaches to Climate, Jobs, and Justice. On the eve of the Global Climate Action Summit in San Francisco, they took to the streets demanding that local elected officials move beyond talk and take the steps we know are needed to confront the climate crisis. Students and faculty gathered at the Tishman Center to make posters before traveling to the rally together.

Comments (0)

Newest First

Preview POST COMMENT...

PREVIOUS

Leonardo Figueroa on "From Anthropocene Troubles to Utz 'K'aslemal: Indigenous Ecologies and Bioculturally-Diverse Pathways beyond a World of Crises" Q&A

EVENTS, HIGHLIGHTS

NEXT

Online Always

UNCATEGORIZED