ENVIRONMENTAL JUSTICE TOUR OF NEWARK, NJ

FRIDAY, APRIL 20, 2018 AT 9:30 A.M.
MEET AT 63 FIFTH AVENUE

RSVP: NJEJTOUR.EVENTBRITE.COM

Environmental Policy and Sustainability Management Professor Ana Baptista and the Environmental Justice Coordinator of the Ironbound Community Corporation will lead a tour of Newark, New Jersey.

The tour will cover the environmental and industrial history of Newark's Ironbound neighborhood. The tour will review the social, political, and environmental history of Newark's development with particular attention to the racial and ethnic dynamics of the city's changing demographics and landscape. The tour will take participants through the Seaports of Newark and Elizabeth (3rd largest seaport in the US) and discuss the health, environmental, and economic impacts of global goods movement.

In addition to a discussion of the environmental justice issues evident in the city, we will cover the intersecting issues of immigrant rights, affordable housing, and economic justice. We will see firsthand some of the active campaigns, projects, and programs that ICC is undertaking with residents to address environmental justice, including stops at DownBottom Farm, Community Center, and Riverfront Park.

Meet outside the University Center (63 5th Avenue) at 9:30 am. Buses will leave promptly at 10:00 am. The tour will last approximately 2.5 hours.
