Mealworms ate my styrofoam! Faculty Grant recipient Oliver Kellhammer talks about his project

2018-2019 Faculty Grant recipient Oliver Kellhammer's project asks for help with recycling waste foam from a very unlikely source: mealworms. We spoke with Oliver about his project, his art using the partially eaten foam and how he used the faculty grant funding to advance his practice in this space. See the video below for the full interview:
